Phi Taus to Install New Group at U

Members of Lawrence Chapter Will Attend and Take Part in Formal Ceremony

Seven members of the local chapter of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity will go to Madison to be present at the installation of Omega chapter of Phi Kappa Tau at the University of Wisconsin this weekend, April 24, 25 and 26, while George Mecholson, '24, will assist in the formal installation ceremonies, being a member of the National degree team.

Phi Kappa Tau was founded at Miami university, Oxford, Ohio, in 1896. It will have, with the new chapter, twenty-six chapters, which are in Ohio, Kentucky, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Iowa, Indiana, Wisconsin, California, New York, Michigan, Nebraska, West Virginia, North Carolina, and Colorado. The central office of the organization is at Indianapolis.

The local fraternity of the university which has been honored with the national chapter is Alpha Theta Pi and was organized at Madison in the spring of 1922. It owns a house in the Latin quarter. Installation plans include a formal stag banquet followed by a Haresfoot theater party on Friday, April 25, and a formal installation ball at the Cameo room Saturday night at which guests from each fraternity on the university campus and from the other chapters of Phi Kappa Tau will be present.

Other guests of honor will include Governor and Mrs. John J. Blaine, Attorney General and Mrs. H. L. Ekern, Lieut. Gov. and Mrs. Comings, Adj. Gen. R. M. Immel of the Wisconsin National Guard, Dean and Mrs. S. H. Goodnight of the University of Wisconsin, and Dean Louise Nardin.

Locals to Go

Claude Coates, '26, George Baldwin, '27, Clifton Cooper, '26, Paul Cary, '25, Lewis Empson, '27, John Sullivan, '23, and George Mecholson of the Lawrence chapter will attend the installation. George Mecholson, '24, is a member of the installation degree team which is composed of Grand President J. V. Cotton, Akron, Ohio; Grand Secretary R. K. Bowers, Indianapolis, Ind.; Past Grand Editor B. K. Brown, Champaign, Ill.; Grand Counsellor Dr. H. E. Hoagland, Columbus, Ohio; Grace O'Gerran, Ann Arbor, Mich., and George J. Mecholson.

Grand Secretary Here

R. K. Bowers, grand secretary of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity, was a guest at the house of the local chapter of the fraternity the early part of the week. Mr. Bowers went to Madison today to attend the installation of Omega chapter of Phi Kappa Tau at the University of Madison this week-end. He was guest of honor at a formal dinner given by Prof. Ludolph Arens at his home on Lawrence street Tuesday evening at which members and patrons of the fraternity were present.

Alumna Represents Locals at Session

According to Mary Bennett, president of the local chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, national journalistic fraternity for women, no one from the active chapter of Lawrence was able to attend the vocational conference of Theta Sigma Phi in Chicago on April 18, 19, and 20. The chapter was represented, however, by Ethel Buckmaster, '19.

The Lawrence chapter was one of eleven middle western chapters invited to send representatives. The conference was sponsored by the Chicago Alumnae chapter of Theta Sigma Phi and the Woman's National Journalistic register.

Conference Program

The conference included a trip through The Chicago Tribune plant, individual interviews with prominent women in various branches of journalism, a banquet at the Virginia hotel with "R.H.L." of Line O' Type fame as chief speaker, and an Easter breakfast at the Chicago Alumnae chapter house.

COMMITTEE COMPLETES PROGRAM FOR CROWNING OF MAY QUEEN ON MAY 23

A monster parade in the morning, tennis matches between Lawrence, Ripon and Oshkosh Normal school court stars, a program of other minor sports, the presentation of two plays by Sunset Players and a conservatory play, probably on the order of a musical comedy, an all-college "sing" in the evening, imported fortune-tellers and "Coney Island hot-dog stands," with the final crowning of Miss Marjorie Nichol, '24, as May Queen, in conjunction with a program of interpretive dances, are the highlights in the plans for annual May Day at Lawrence Friday, May 23, adopted at a meeting of the general committee of Tau Tau Kappa, which is in charge, on Monday afternoon.

Festivities are slated to begin with a parade in the morning, which is in charge of William Wright, '24, and will be followed by the tennis matches and other minor sports. While Blue male court stars are tackling Oshkosh Normal, Lawrence coed tennis experts will vie with Ripon girls, according to present plans.

The crowning of the May Queen will come in the afternoon and will be followed by a series of interpretive dances, of which Irene Bennett, '26, is in charge. Following these features will come the Sunset Players' dramas and the conservatory play. Doris Maxon, '25, is in charge of Sunset's part, while Florence Gaiser, '24, is directing the conservatory play.

Augment Committee

The general committee, which originally consisted of Alan Hackworthy, '24,

Seek Mystic Artists For May Day Program

The general committee in charge of the annual May Fete on Friday, May 23, through Alan Hackworthy, '24, who is in charge, has issued a call to any member of the student body who is able to execute mystic trickery of any sort to volunteer for work in the day's program.

It is the desire of the committee to sponsor a program that will be replete with unique features, including fortune telling, sleight of hand performances, magician acts, and stunts of like nature. This can be done only if the students on the campus who possess the abilities in mention will volunteer their services.

Those who will be asked to see either Mr. Hackworthy or Miss Lora Miller, the latter at her office in Alexander gymnasium, at once.

who is general chairman of May Day, appointed by Tau Tau Kappa, Florence Gaiser, William Wright, and Dorothy Palmer, '26, has been enlarged to include the following sub-committees and members:

Finance—John O'Leary, '26, Larry Lyons, '27.

Advertising—Sylvia Hunt, '27, George Christensen, '26.

Y. W. Representatives—Olive Hamar, '26, Walda Rusch, '26.

Y. M. Representative—George Skewes, '25.

Committees Start Work

Though these are the plans for the definite program, further details of the event are yet under fire, and it is not expected they will be completed for ten days or more. Committees have already begun their work and are making preliminary preparations.

Miss Lora Miller, of the department of Physical Education, is aiding in the preparations for the annual Fete.

The detailed program, as announced following the meeting of the general committee on Monday, follows:

Morning

Parade, in charge of William Wright, '24.

Tennis matches between Lawrence and Oshkosh Normal school men and Lawrence and Ripon coeds.

Program of other minor sports, not now definitely decided upon.

Afternoon

Crowning of May Queen.

Interpretive dances, in charge of Irene Bennett, '26.

Two dramas presented by Sunset Players, in charge of Doris Maxon, '25.

Conservatory play, probably in the nature of a musical comedy, in charge of Florence Gaiser, '24.

All-college "sing" under the direction of some member of the conservatory faculty, not yet chosen.

Call Session To Publicize 'Little Eight'

Plan Conference of Midwest Publicity Writers at Beloit May 24

A conference of publicity writers and newspaper men of the member schools of the Midwest conference, which includes Lawrence, is planned to be held at Beloit on Saturday, May 24, in conjunction with the annual Midwest conference track meet, which will be held at Beloit, under the Gold's auspices, on that day.

John M. Baker, instructor in journalism at Knox college, Galesburg, Ill., is taking the lead in the calling of the conference, and an invitation to be present at the gathering has already been received at Lawrence. Prof. Dix Harwood and Dan Hardt, '25, who are in charge of Lawrence publicity, are planning to attend, should plans for the event materialize.

Publishers of student newspapers and instructors in journalism as well as publicity writers of the conference schools are welcome to attend the sessions, according to present plans.

Want More Publicity

The purpose of the conference will be to make a definite plan to be followed by the publicity directors of all of the schools of the Midwest league in an effort to better publicize the conference and its activities. It is felt among the schools of the circuit that recognition accorded the conference by newspapers and fans of the middle west is not great enough, and it will be the duty of the persons who come to the meeting to originate a program calculated to win greater recognition for Midwest conference schools and conference doings.

The gathering has even more interest for Lawrence in that its idea is somewhat the work of Professor Harwood, who first suggested it to Mr. Baker at a conference of instructors of journalism of middle western colleges and universities, held at Christmas time in Chicago, at which Mr. Harwood was a speaker.

The purpose and scope of the plan is best told in the following excerpts from the call to the convention, received from Mr. Baker:

Excerpts From Call

"At the Sigma Delta Chi convention at Minneapolis and at the Association of Teachers of Journalism, meeting in Chicago, several discussed with me the possibilities for obtaining greater recognition for the Midwest conference."

"Most newspapers do not even get the name of the conference straight. We are all familiar with mention of it as the 'Mid-West Conference,' and the 'Middlewestern Conference.'"

"President McCannoughy has suggested to me that a conference of publishers of student newspapers, instructors in journalism and directors of publicity, if there are such, of Midwest conference colleges and universities might be called to help standardize reference to the conference and to obtain concerted action to help focus attention on the group."

"If such a meeting could be held at Beloit at the time of the Midwest track meet, we believe a great deal could be accomplished. What do you think of this idea?"

Lawrence Favors

Professor Harwood has written Mr. Baker assuring him of his earnest co-operation in the venture, and promising attendance from Lawrence representatives should the conference become a reality.

Miss Hall on Staff of Scranton, Pa., Church

Eva Hall, '23, has recently assumed the position of director of young people's activities, in addition to that of church secretary at the Elm Park M. E. Church of Scranton, Pa., according to information received by friends of Miss Hall at Lawrence. While at Lawrence she took special work in religious education, dramatics and recreational activities. She has had some experience in this type of work in Wisconsin before going East.

Cash Prizes For Economic Work

Awards of $2,000 Announced in Contest Sponsored by Chicago Clothing House

A contest for which $2,000 will be given has been announced by a committee composed of Prof. J. Laurence Laughlin, University of Chicago, chairman, Prof. J. B. Clark, Columbia University, Dr. Ed. F. Gay, New York, Hon. Theodore E. Burton, Washington, and Prof. Wesley C. Mitchell, Columbia University, who will receive and judge treatises in the field of economics to administer the prize money provided through the courtesy and generosity of Hart, Schaffner, & Marx, of Chicago.

The purpose of the contest is "to arouse an interest in the study of topics relating to commerce and industry, to stimulate those who have a college training to consider the problems of a business career, and to aid in constructive economic thinking."

Entrances for the contestants have been divided into two classes, A and B. Class A includes "any residents of the United States or Canada without restriction." The possession of a degree is not required of any contestant in this class nor is any age limit set. Class B includes only those who, at the time the papers are sent in, are undergraduates of any American college. A first prize of $1,000 and a second prize of $500 are offered to contestants in Class A and a first prize of $300 and a second prize of $200 are offered to those in Class B.

Subjects in Economics

As the purpose of the contest indicates, the subjects are upon questions concerning economic and industrial problems. The committee submits a list of suggested subjects but confinement to these is not necessary.

Rogers Writes Articles For Nat'l News Service

A feature story on the trailing arbutus, by Prof. W. E. Rogers, is being given national publicity in about 1400 larger newspapers of the country through the Associated Press. The story is part of a larger article on spring wild flowers written by Professor Rogers, at the request of the Associated Press, for distribution through their national mail service. In the article he discusses the sequence of spring flowers and their characteristics.

A similar story on the arrival of the various birds in Wisconsin is also being distributed over the state, and Professor Rogers has been requested to write eight more stories on similar subjects.

Music Lovers Do Homage to Dean

Dean Carl J. Waterman

Thousands of music lovers did homage to the exceptional abilities of Dean Carl J. Waterman, director of Lawrence Conservatory of Music, in the splendid success which attended his presentation of Handel's Easter oratorio, "The Messiah," in Memorial chapel Sunday and Monday nights. Dean Waterman, who directed the oratorio, and who is without doubt one of the greatest choral directors in the middle west, achieved his usual high perfection with a chorus composed of 225 voices, including Schola Cantorum and choir singers of Appleton churches which cooperated in the presentation of the Messiah. Several hundred people had to be turned away on Sunday night and scores stood the entire two hours and twenty minutes of the program, unable to get seats.

Books to be Distributed By Lawrence Y.M.C.A.

Lawrence Y.M.C.A. have received a quantity of books from the Christian Laymen's association of Pittsburg, and these books, entitled "Confronting Young Men with the Living Christ," by John R. Mott, and "Life Principles of a Business Man," also by Mr. Mott, are being distributed free of charge to all Lawrence men desiring them. All students desiring a copy of these books are requested to see William Kiessling, '25, president of the Y.M.C.A.

Beta Sigma Phi announces the initiation on Friday, April 18, of Robert Locklin, '27, of Appleton, and Eugene L. Pierce, '27, of Appleton.

Send Delegate to Y. W. Convention

Florence Hector, President of Lawrence Organization, Goes to New York

Florence Hector, '25, will represent Lawrence at the eighth national convention of the Young Women's Christian association which will be held in New York City from April 29 to May 6, inclusive. She will leave Lawrence for New York on April 25. Colleges and universities from all over the country will be represented at this convention, and it is expected, there will be approximately 3000 delegates at this national gathering.

The purpose of the convention is to promote closer relationship between the Young Women's Christian associations all over the country, and to give them an opportunity for voicing their opinions on matters of national and international importance. The student assembly at this conference will consider economic, racial, religious questions, and war, with its relation to the student life in America and foreign countries.

Notables To Attend

A number of internationally famous foreign guests will be present, and this will make it possible as well for the delegates to obtain information on the conditions in other countries from authoritative sources. Dr. Richard Roberts of Montreal, Canada, who is well known all over the world, will be the principal speaker of the convention.

The time of the delegates, however, will not be spent entirely in discussions. A number of social functions have been planned, the most important one being a reception for all delegates at the Metropolitan Art museum.

Lawrence Singers Assist In Program at Neenah

The chorus choir of First Presbyterian church of Neenah under the direction of George Mecholson, '24, gave an Easter Vesper musicale Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock before a capacity audience. Mrs. Marian Ramsey Waterman, soprano, was the soloist. The choir consisting of forty-five voices, was assisted by Nellie Althaus, Genevieve Jones, Edith Gray, Evelyn Travers, and George Bernard Behnken, all students of Lawrence Conservatory of Music. Mr. Mecholson has directed the music of this church for the past two years.

Helen Williams, '26, spent Easter Sunday at her home in Milwaukee.

Thousands at "The Messiah"

Handel's Oratorio Presented Before Largest Audiences in Chapel's History

Several hundreds of persons were turned away, scores stood throughout the time of performance of two hours and twenty minutes, unable to secure seats, with every seat in the house occupied on Sunday, the first night, while a capacity audience again was present on Monday night at the two-day presentation of Handel's oratorio, "The Messiah," under direction of Dean Carl J. Waterman, head of Lawrence Conservatory of Music, in Lawrence Memorial chapel. It is estimated close to four thousand music lovers of the Fox river valley heard the two presentations.

A chorus of 225 voices, which included Schola Cantorum and choral singers of Appleton churches, which cooperated in the staging of the event, sang in the performance and delighted the audiences on both evenings. Dean Waterman achieved exceptional success with the large chorus, whose fine shadings of tone and expression were a source of greatest pleasure.

Winifred Wilson Quinlan and Carl McKee, conservatory soloists, did excellent work in their parts of the program, while the work of the other soloists, Miss Blanche Baxter, Miss Flora Waalkes, both of Chicago, Miss Verna Lean of Milwaukee, and Dwight Edrus Cook of Chicago, was also exceptional.

Orchestra a Success

The orchestral selections were splendidly given by the conservatory orchestra under direction of Prof. Percy Fullinwider.

White seats on Monday night were sold at a fixed admission, the presentation Sunday was free, but an offering was taken during the evening. D. P. French of Appleton, chairman of the business end of the undertaking, made an appeal for $700 from the audience which will enable the Ministers' Association of Appleton to make the Easter Festival an annual event. Blank checks were passed out for those who did not have the sum with them which they wished to contribute. The checks were then collected with the silver offering, amounting to approximately $400.

Success Gratifying

The oratorio, which tells the story of Easter, drew the largest audiences that have ever been crowded into the chapel, and this was particularly gratifying to those who undertook it since the venture was a religious production.

Battle Creek Expert is Speaker Here on Health

Dr. Estelle Norman, of the staff of physicians of the Battle Creek college, Battle Creek, Mich., spent April 16 to 20 at Lawrence lecturing to students on good health. Dr. Norman was brought to Appleton through the efforts of Miss Mary Louise Brown, dean of women, and of Miss Lora Miller of the department of physical education. Her subjects included a discussion of food values, the function of vitamins, and personal and social hygiene.

The Battle Creek college, with which Dr. Norman is connected, is a research college connected with the Battle Creek sanatorium. The institution is nationally known for its research work on foods, and the slides used to illustrate the lectures here were prepared from experiments made at Battle Creek.

"Tale of the Fox" Has Strong Appeal

Strong in all its features, "The Tale of the Fox," a pageant which depicts the industrial development and history of Fox River Valley, and which will be given tonight for the second and last time in Lawrence Memorial chapel, is particularly meritorious in the stage settings for the various acts. People who attended the performance Wednesday night were enthusiastic in their praises of the pageant.

Promoted by Appleton manufacturers, the Appleton Woman's club, and the Chicago Recreation Training school, the entertainment has a two-fold purpose, to interpret the romance and the history of the Fox River Valley's industrial development to the workers and to the community, as well as to bring about a closer understanding between the various civic groups.

Glee Club Sings

Short one-act plays, songs, dances, and tableaux compose this community production of a variety program on the history of the Fox River valley, said by historians to be one of the most romantic areas in the United States.

Lawrence men's glee club was well received in its several numbers, particularly in the "Song of the Fox," which was composed especially for the occasion.

Sage Coeds—As Seen In Another's Eyes

Russell Sage occupants may see themselves as others see them, or rather hear themselves as they are made audible to others, in this extract from The Dearborn Independent, in which Russell Sage is the dormitory described. It was written by Fred L. Holmes, Madison newspaper man, who interviewed Sophie Kerr Underwood, the noted novelist, in one of Sage's small parlors when she was at Lawrence this fall as guest of honor at the Theta Sigma Phi rally.

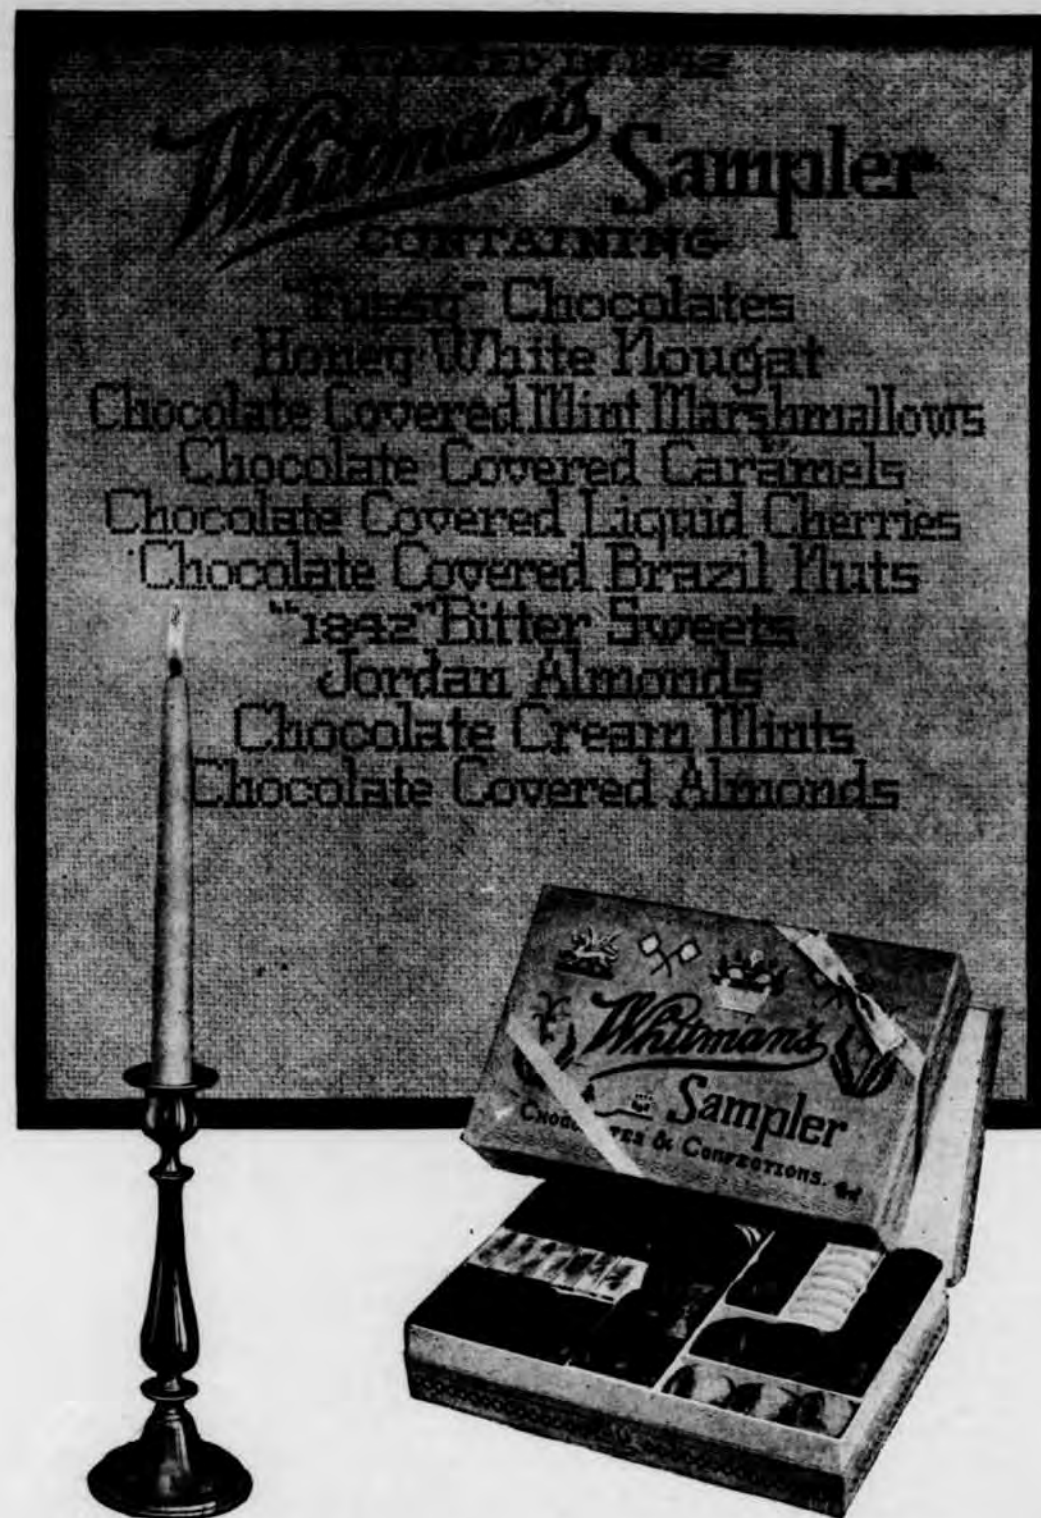

"When this interview was given, the author of the novels about the people of Eastern Maryland was sitting on a tapestried divan in one of the college reception rooms of a mid-western city. She had been reading some of her stories to a convention of journalistic classes. From the long hall there floated in snatches of conversation from groups of eager girls enthusiastic over their prospects in life. It was a rollicking, a jubilant, an exulting chatter of mingled voices. Although Sophie Kerr has declined to become a lecturer, she has accepted several invitations to appear before chapters of Theta Sigma Phi, the only woman's journalistic fraternity, of which she is an honorary member."

Describes Her Looks

Later on in the extended interview is the following description of Mrs. Underwood's appearance: "Physically she looks like the dean of women in one of the co-educational institutions of the Middle West, piquant, healthy, vigorous, inspiring. She was dressed in black, wearing a little brown cloche hat, not unlike the girls to whom she had just been speaking at a morning journalistic meeting."

A PATHLESS CAMPUS

Any college takes great pride in fine buildings and a beautiful campus. At Lawrence we have both, but to preserve the natural beauty of the campus each one of us must make himself responsible.

No campus can be attractive that is cut up by paths. In this fine spring weather some of us take the course of least resistance in passing from the Main Hall to the Observatory and Science Hall, and from the other buildings to the Chapel, instead of making use of the cement walks. The sidewalks were not put down merely as an ornament. They were laid for a definite purpose, to keep the campus pathless.

It is certainly a deplorable state when students have not the will power and the backbone to keep themselves from committing an act which they know is detrimental to the beauty of their environment. Let's hope we haven't many of those students at Lawrence.

We appeal to every Lawrence student to keep off the grass and to use the cement walks in crossing the campus. Surely, student opinion is for a "pathless campus!" Let's enforce student opinion!

ENTHUSIASM

Have you ever stopped to think what a force is "enthusiasm"? It is the dynamic of your personality. Without it, whatever abilities you may possess lie dormant. You may be ever so intelligent, you may possess the soundest judgment; but until you discover how to put your heart into thought and action, no one will know it.

Enthusiasm is too often regarded as a useless display of so much surplus feeling. It is looked upon as lacking in real substantiality. This is an erroneous opinion because it is the power that moves the world.

We can cut through the hardest rocks with a diamond drill and melt steel rails with a flame. We can tunnel through mountains and make our way through any sort of physical obstruction. Science has taught us how to check and divert the very laws of Nature. But there is no power in the world that can cut through another man's opposition except persuasion. And persuasion is "reason plus enthusiasm," with the emphasis on enthusiasm. Test it out for yourself!

LIBRARY FOR STUDY

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." But play out of its place is as detrimental to the particular individual who indulges as it is to the persons with whom it interferes.

Lately the library has taken on more the appearance of a club room than a study room. Too many thoughtless students make it a meeting place in which to chat and twitter about one rival matter after another. They do everything but study, with no regard for the persons near them who may be making an earnest but futile attempt to digest some history or economics collateral in the midst of such distracting circumstances. Moreover, during all that giggling they retain a book of which, perhaps, there are only three copies with about twenty-five students clamoring to get them.

Consider the other fellow! Since dormitories and fraternity houses are poor places for study, let's reserve the library for the sole purpose for which it was erected,—for study! If you must do your "dating" there, do it on the front steps where it will not interfere with the conscientious work of those within.

We boast of a good looking campus. But marring its beauty is the once-sacred senior bench. In its present dilapidated and weatherbeaten condition it has become a cause for sore eyes. In connection with the customary spring clean-up we suggest that the bench be either repaired and painted or junked.

Lawrence girls are accused of not supporting spring athletics, of not taking an interest in track. Why not revive the old custom of sorority relays as a means of arousing track interest among the co-eds?

"All Men are free and equal born Before the Law!" So runs the worn And spacious, lying, parrot-cry, All men are free—to starve or sigh; But few to feed on Egypt's corn.

There toils the sweated slave, forlorn; There weeps the babe with hunger torn; Dear God! Forgive us for the lie— 'All men are free!'

That man may laugh while this must mourn; One's heir to honour, one to scorn— Were they born free? Were you? Was I?

No! Not when born, but when they die And of their robes—or rags—are shorn, 'All men are free!'

School Board Secretary Criticizes Lawrentian

Editor The Lawrentian:

Your article "Construction Criticism" under date of April 10th and written by "A Student," may be "replete with misgrammarisms and propagating a system of punctuation all its own." But its writer must be credited with possessing that peculiar characteristic which you have been editorializing—yet failed to exhibit on your own part—namely Common Sense. He may be a bit on the lee side of correct grammar, and his punctuation probably wouldn't get him a job as head of your English department,—but the fact remains that he can and does discriminate between good and bad journalism.

Personally, after glancing over your first page, I feel very much as tho I had been cowed by some garrulous old maid who insists on telling me all about life's little worries, when I'd rather listen to more important topics. A good newspaper never tries to impress its readers that it contains all the news in the community—but only the best. Your second page impresses me similarly to the first, excepting that your make up artist is surely attempting to "propagate a style of typography all his own"—if you will allow me to steal your own thunder.

Any reader of your paper would be able to point out mistakes such as placing pink tea society items on the sport page and allowing your humor column to degenerate into a collection of chestnuts which were dust catchers in Noah's days. Yet my most serious objection to "The Lawrentian" today is that you are not big enuf and broad enuf to treat fraternity problems from a strictly neutral standpoint. I realize that there is a temptation to play up one's own fraternity if the direction of a college newspaper is placed in the hands of a fraternity man. And in spite of this fact, former editors such as Warren Canright, Kevill Larson, and those of similar calibre, who were the strongest kind of fraternity men, would never permit themselves to violate their journalistic honor by spreading propaganda, whether direct or indirect, in favor of their own fraternities. And that is the reason why they were so successful in building up a publication which was known from coast to coast as "America's Greatest College Weekly." They submerged their own selves completely in the work. They did not attempt to keep their own selves in the limelight by placing their initials at the end of articles flowing from their own pens. They did not need to. The publication itself was a monument to their work and journalistic ideals which will live in the memories of their comrades long after personalities have faded and gone.

Editor of The Lawrentian:
I have read with keenest interest the several issues of The Lawrentian published so far this school year. I like very much the change from the magazine to the distinctly newspaper style you have undertaken and the high standard attained thus far.

I like especially the fair estimate of news value and choice made in these issues and the fair and straightforward manner of treatment.

Wishing you the best of luck throughout the year, I am,

Hits Pacifists

Editor of The Lawrentian:

After reading "A Lawrence Co-ed's" declaration of pacifism the writer breathed a silent prayer of thankfulness that in '76 and '65 a race of men and not of super-intellectuals lived in these United States. They were MEN who were willing to shed their life's blood that freedom and democracy might exist for us, their posterity.

I must confess I am a "militarist," if being one means a willingness to bear arms for one's country in time of need, the willingness to give up one's life if need be in defense of her honor, and the opinion that the best method to prevent war is "to prepare for war in time of peace." That is not the type of militarist who caused the downfall of Germany, not the type that bids fair to cause the downfall of France, but the type of "militarist" that believes wholeheartedly in the scheme of national defence as represented in the National Defence Act of 1920—the Act which provides for three divisions of the Army of the United States: the regular army, the national guard, and the organized reserves. This act also provides for various citizens' camps such as the ROTC camps and the Citizens' Military Training Camps which train and provide officers for the third group of the Army. Thus the Army of the United States is not a militarists' army but a citizens' army composed of citizens who are able, trained, and willing to protect their loved ones, their homes, and their country.

Our pacifist friend tells us that "the only way to stop war is for those who do the fighting to refuse to 'fight.'" That of course would stop wars, for there could be no war where there were none to do the fighting. But—like all other Utopian dreams—this beautiful vision shatters when it strikes reality. Never so long as human nature is what it is,—and it bids fair to be what it is for many, many generations to come,—will all fighters at once and simultaneously lay down their arms. A few may; the majority will not. Some nation MIGHT discard its armaments, only to become the prey of some other nation whose fighters had still maintained their determination to fight.

Now both the "Lawrence Co-ed" and the writer have the same end in view,—that is, a maximum of peace and freedom from wars. Our difference of opinion lies only in the method by which the end is to be attained. Pacifism can never stop or even hinder war. It will only breed war, and intensify the suffering and ruin of such conflict. Preparedness by means of an organized trained citizens' reserve (not a huge standing army) is the only practical means by which this democracy may attain a maximum of peace. A trained citizenry will discourage aggression on the part of other nations, as well as speed a war to a successful finish with a minimum of loss. The catastrophe of 1918-19 where thousands of drafted men were rushed into the front line trenches after but a few weeks of desultory training, only to be mowed down by a superior trained enemy, is the shameful monument to the impracticability of pacifism. Had there been fewer pacifists prior to our entrance into the World war there would be today fewer young Americans sleeping in Flanders fields under tiny white crosses which stretch row on row in never ending line.

No man who has ever borne arms or who has had a course in military training, as has the writer, will ever advocate war. Those who hate war the strongest are those who have personally experienced the truth of Sherman's statement, "War is Hell," and it is to prevent our America from being swallowed up in the maelstrom of another hellish war, more terrible than the last by a hundred fold, that AMERICANS are urged to do all in their power to do their part under the National Defence Act of 1920.

Let not the siren song of the impractical dreamer tempt us. We must protect our America, and the means of doing this is provided. We would never think of dismissing our police forces. Let us not commit an even more fatal error and open the way for our own destruction. Let us forget the idle talk of the pacifist and pay heed to the words of the immortal Washington: "In time of peace prepare for war."
—C. D. S., '25.

St. Olaf's Band To Play in Appleton

Many people who heard the St. Olaf college choir of Northfield, Minn., when they sang here last year, will be glad to know that another musical organization from the Minnesota college will come to Appleton on Friday evening, May 2. The St. Olaf Concert band is completing its thirty-third season, and will play in concert here on that night. Several years ago they toured Norway and Sweden, and last year they made a coast-to-coast trip, and were everywhere enthusiastically received.

The band is composed of forty-one men and three women, all of whom are students at St. Olaf's. Gertrude Boe Overby, soloist with the band, has added much to the success of its programs in the past.

Under Lutheran Auspices

The concert will be held in Lawrence Memorial chapel and is under the auspices of Lutheran churches of Appleton and surrounding valley cities.

Inter-Class Track Stars to Compete In Annual Classic Saturday Afternoon

Denny Will Pick First Squad On Results of Meet

A score of competent officials have been selected by Coach A. C. Denny to handle the annual inter-class track and field tournament, which is to be held Saturday, and this should insure the long list of events being run off in efficient order. The meet will begin promptly at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

According to advance indications the meet should be well worth seeing, for sixty men have been turning out regularly for the varsity squad, and without a doubt many more than this will be entered in the inter-class meet. With so many veteran track men, particularly the long distance runners, competition in the various events should be unusually keen. Another bit of interest will be to watch the efforts of the newcomers, who have been showing up very creditably in their indoor practice. Although Coach Denny is expecting much of the new men, it will devolve upon the old men in the end to bolster up the scoring machine in the meets of the season, and the inter-class meet will give a clue to what is to be expected this spring.

The officials for the meet include, as announced by Denny, Fred Tresize, referee; Dave Wilson, starter; J. H. Farley, and Guy Barlow, timers; Lee High, William Smith, and Clarence Dy-

Wants Track Entries

All names of entrants in the inter-class track and field meet, April 26, must be in by Friday, according to an announcement of Coach Denny. Names should be handed in at the office at the gym, preferably, or given to the leader appointed for each of the four classes. This is necessary so a grouping can be made and a regular order of trials worked out.

son, judges at finals; John Wilcox, clerk of course; Winifred Bird, announcer; Bey, Schwab, and Johnson, track marshals; and Gean, Holdridge, Holmes, Gander, Remington, Delforge, field judges.

Order of Events

Starting at 2 o'clock the events will be run off in the following order: 120-yd. high hurdles, trials, and pole vault and shot put. At 2:15 the trials for 100-yd. dash. At 2:30 the one-mile run. At 2:40 the 440-yd. dash, high jump, and discus. At 2:50, the finals for the 100-yd. dash. At 3:05 the finals for the 120-yd. high hurdles. At 3:20 the trials for the 220-yd. dash. At 3:35 the trials for the low hurdles. At 3:45 the 880-yd. run, and the broad jump. At 4:00 the 220-yd. dashes and the javelin. At 4:15 the two-mile run. At 4:35 the finals for the 220-yd. low hurdles. At 4:50 the relay race, the closing event of the meet.

Ribbons will be awarded for first, second and third place, in each event. In addition the possibility of winning an "L" through the breaking of a college record, should lend a stimulus which has been absent in former inter-class meets.

Speculation Rife

Speculation is rife as to which class will walk off with the meet. The seniors and juniors are doped as strong favorites, but the sophomores and freshmen may be expected to give their upper-class rivals a stiff run for honors.

The freshmen class particularly seems to be in a position to upset the dope, because of the numerous high school stars among its members.

According to Coach Denny, the meet will be held if at all possible, notwithstanding the detrimental weather conditions of the past two weeks.

Lawrentian Wins Record As Columbus High Coach

Fred De Vinney, '16, coach of athletics at Columbus high school, established an exceptional record this year by turning out a basketball team that won 16 out of 17 games from seemingly mediocre material. De Vinney won his "L" at Lawrence in 1916 when he played on the Blue and White football squad.

TRACK PILOT

Capt. "Vamp" Grignon

Capt. "Vamp" Grignon, '24, Blue gridiron and field star, is expected to have his banner year in track work during the season just getting under way. Grignon, who throws the javelin, broke the college record last season and is expected to cop the maximum off points for his alma mater in each of the season's meets.

Trantow Will Try For Olympic Place

"Tiny" Trantow, Ripon's premier athlete and lone representative in the Ohio State University relay, held last Saturday at Columbus, brought honors to the Wisconsin college by winning three third places in competition with 175 athletes from 85 different colleges and universities throughout the country.

Trantow won places in the 1000-meter run, the running broad jump, and the discus throw. By placing in these events, Trantow earned the right to try out for the United States Olympic track team next June. Members of the American team are selected not only by their Olympic tryouts but also by their season's records in other meets.

Faculty Tennis Club Mentors' Newest Sport

Faculty tennis was planned at a recent meeting of faculty members when a new tennis club was organized for the benefit of the faculty. The tennis court located behind Brokaw Hall has been secured and is being put in condition through the efforts of a committee composed of Prof. Arthur Weston, chairman, Miss Mary Fretts and Robert Hannum. The court is to be used throughout the entire spring and summer.

Admission to the club is open to any member of the faculty who desires to play. The initial fee is one dollar.

Charles Holmes, '24, spent Easter at his home in Marinette.

Ralph Hilker, '23, who is teaching in the high school at Oakfield visited at the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity house with fraternity brothers last week-end.

Weather Hinders Track Practice of Varsity Squad

Weather conditions of the past two weeks have been such that very little track work out of doors has been possible, according to Coach Denny. Candidates on the Blue squad out for the field events have been unable to do any intensive practice, and have been confined to conditioning exercises only. The track men, however, have been a little more fortunate, and have been out now and then.

Because of this inability to train out of doors, the Blue and White will go into the season's meets with a decided handicap, for a majority of the rivals of the Blue, living in more southern climes, are more fortunate in this respect and have been working out of doors for several weeks.

Several important changes have been made in the track schedule the past week. Carroll college cancelled its date on May 3, claiming that interest in track had waned somewhat during the uncertain weather of late, and therefore they could not put a strong competitive group in the field against Lawrence. Milton, or the Chicago Y.M.C.A. college of Physical Education of Chicago, are being considered as possible opponents on the open date.

The Chicago college is rated as one of the strongest in the middle west, and should Lawrence take them on, it would be one of the greatest meets in years. If Milton is accepted, the meet will be held on Thursday afternoon, May 1. Milton, although a small college, is much stronger in spring sports, particularly track, than they are in football or basketball.

Looks Like Milton

According to Coach Denny it is very likely that Milton will be taken on, as they are more in the class of Lawrence. Then too, the handicap under which the weather has placed the Blue and White track stars would be very great in lieu of the fact that the Chicago college has had the benefit of several weeks of out-door training. The inter-class meet, April 26, should give the coaches an opportunity to look over the material with the view of selecting squad material should the meet with Milton follow closely on its heels.

Oshkosh Would Vic With Blue

Lawrence - Oshkosh Normal Tennis Match in Negotiation for May 17

A tennis match with Oshkosh Normal school may be added to the Blue's schedule as the result of overtures made by the sawdust city school. Two dates, either May 17, or May 23, have been suggested. Since May 17 is the date of the Lawrence high school track and field day it is thought by Coach Denny to be the more desirable of the two, and in all probability will be accepted, if agreeable to Oshkosh.

No outside work has been possible by the tennis men because of the condition of the courts thus far, but it is hoped they will be able to get out by the latter part of the week. The veterans of last year have been working out in the gymnasium for the past few weeks brushing up on last year's tricks, but this has been rather difficult because of lack of proper facilities.

Some Good Work

The trial tournament of a week ago, however, brought out some very good playing, and the contests were all fairly close. "Bob" Nesbit, last year's champion, survived the list of eight dangerous opponents for first place. He vanquished Dwight Hunting, champion of two years ago, in the finals of the tournament.

Floyd Friday, '25, spent the week-end at his home in Markesan.

Lowell Huelster, '26, visited at his home in Oshkosh over the week-end.

"Youngest Mayor," Lawrence Grad, to Try Housecleaning

Paul Ungrodt, '23, who by election to the mayoralty office at Washburn in the recent Wisconsin elections, won for himself the title of "Wisconsin's youngest mayor," will take the lead, according to reports from the northern city, of his newly elected council at a city housecleaning. Incidentally the force of Lawrence social science courses will be put to test, for, it will be remembered by friends of Ungrodt, while at Lawrence he was a major in economics and political science, and in his last year was assistant to Dr. D. O. Kinsman head of the department of Economics.

Though Ungrodt has apparently made no pre-campaign promises, several of his council members, it is said, have admitted that changes are contemplated in all of the appointive offices, including city clerk, health officer, street commissioner, chief of police and school board members.

Oust Board Members

Election night, after the returns had been counted, the old council held a special meeting and appointed a new school board to hold over into the next administration. All of these appointees were to be removed by the new administration, it was expected.

Washburn's 23-year old mayor was elected by a 2 to 1 majority over Ed Bryan, a candidate running on a stand-pat platform, and who is the retiring city chief.

Dr. Foster Talks at Open Meeting of English Club

Dr. Frances A. Foster, with Flecker's "Hassan" as her subject, was the speaker of the evening at the open meeting of English club at the home of Mrs. Samuel Plantz, Monday evening. Each member was privileged to bring a guest to the meeting.

"Hassan" is a play of the Orient. It's hero, proprietor of a dirty little confectionery store by trade, has the soul of an artist. Miss Foster said that each scene of the play showed a gradual growth from a lower to a higher level, until in the last scene is found pure Oriental beauty. She compared "Hassan" to the "Arabian Nights" with its Caliph, and its cruelty, very near the stage.

Flecker never lets one forget physical pain, and his lack of sentimentality, even hardness, Miss Foster said, had caused many to call him cold—but it is sometimes stimulating to find one who faces the facts in this way.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl McKee, of Lawrence Conservatory of Music, are giving the third and last program of the Lyceum course at Oconto tonight, April 24. The program will consist of songs, readings and a one-act play. The lyceum course was an entire Lawrence product. Percy Fullinwider, assisted by George Mecholson, gave the first number and Dr. Samuel J. Plantz gave an address as the second feature.

Winfield Alexander, '23, who has a studio in Biloxi, Miss., expects to attend the installation of Omega chapter of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity at the University of Wisconsin at Madison this week. He will come to Appleton to visit with fraternity brothers at the Phi Kappa Tau house here after the installation at Madison.

"I can't insure until I get out of debt."

Sometimes a debt is for an education. The honest man wants to pay it as soon as possible. If he continues to live he will pay it. But maybe the end will come too soon and then the creditor is never paid. Debt means obligation—the obligation to carry insurance until the debt is paid.
